

Rubus.

Take iManage Work with you.

Reclaim up to 2 hours per week by filing emails to iManage as you go.

Rubus is a mobile app that integrates with the email app.

Send and file emails directly to iManage from your email app while on the underground train or quickly file those inbox items to the right matter. Rubus is the bolt-on to iManage 10 (and earlier versions 8.5 - 9.5) that turns your downtime into productive time.

It allows you to find and review correspondence and documents directly from your Matters or Assignments folders, and to email and open NRL links.

Once, smartphones were simply mobile phones that could also send and receive email. Now, for many users, they have become their primary communications and management tools. They are replacing desktops and even laptops as the workplace device of choice.

Business applications are evolving fast to extend onto mobile platforms. But there are still critical gaps where mobile apps and desktop applications do not integrate.

Organisations can lose substantial productivity while users juggle files and messages between multiple devices.

The risk of error or a security breach is significantly increased.

Service to clients can be compromised, potentially harming competitive advantage.

Rubus has been developed to act like Filesite for Outlook on your smartphone, to bridge a critical integration gap, affecting the highly regulated legal and financial services sectors in particular: the disconnect between iManage Work and native email clients on smartphones.

Appurity and Appurity Connect are cross-platform mobility consultants specialising in app development, security and compliance for smartphones and tablets.

We are advising customers on their mobility and app strategy with solutions that conform with regulatory or security guidelines, BYOD and COBO.

How it works

Rubus is a clientside app for smartphones developed by Appurity Connect Ltd.

It can be push-deployed to all required devices, or downloaded by individual users. Once installed, it integrates with the native email client providing the “Send and File” option to the user’s iManage environment.

From within Rubus, the user can send a nrl link or a native document, open a NRL from the native email, as well as upload a document to iManage.

The user can then file attachments and emails in the appropriate folders relating to each matter or assignment, directly from their smartphone email client. They can also retrieve documents from the iManage server to be sent as attachments.

True iManage Work mobile integration

- > “File from inbox” save time by filing as you go, just tap the mail then tap the matter and you are done, whether offline or online.
- > Search iManage – e.g. matters/assignments, workspace, documents, email.
- > No need to return to base to complete correspondence initiated while on the move, or to respond to urgent client requests offline.
- > Maintain matters and assignments in an orderly fashion from your smartphone.
- > Improved client service and productivity – work on the move as easily as in the office.

Enterprise Mobility Management (EMM) enabled

This is a solution that is closely aligned with the requirements of corporate-owned-business-only (COBO) or corporate-owned-personally-enabled (COPE) mobile device management strategies.

It is deployed through your EMM solution, providing users with:

- > Secure content at rest
- > Secure content in transit
- > Data leak protection
- > Better management of international roamers
- > Revoke user licence
